"Adventures in Art" Will Bring Out the Explorer in Kids Buell Children's Museum to Open New Exhibit July 1

(Pueblo, Colo.-June 27, 2020) Coinciding with the reopening of the Buell Children's Museum July 1 & 2 to members and July 3 to the general public, the fun new exhibit "Adventures in Art: From Pyramids to Printing Presses" runs through January 9, 2021. This exhibit will put guests in the roles of archaeologists and explorers as they uncover mysteries of Ancient Egypt and learn about life after the Dark Ages. From the pyramids to the printing press, the Buell Children's Museum is inviting visitors to discover the artistic and technological advances made through history. Visitors can expect to....

- Join the Buell Expedition Crew to uncover the secrets of the pyramids! Translate hieroglyphics and find all the mission artifacts to earn a piece of the Pharaoh's treasure!
- Sculpt and paint their own replica of ancient relics to take a piece of history home.
- Learn about the art of medieval warfare!
- Make a stained glass window to catch the light, just like in a cathedral!
- Finish the journey through art history with modern glass blowing like Dale Chihuly! They can even make a "glass" sculpture to be part of our community installation piece!

Admission is $10 for adults and $8 for children, seniors 65+, and military. Members free. All must obtain timed tickets at sd-arts.org.
